[CNE25] The Flying Treasure

In the forest, between tall oaks and winding paths, a special geocache was hidden. Not under a rock, not in a bush, but somewhere... high above your head. Only the smartest and best prepared geocachers could find it.

According to the description this cache was called The Flying Treasure, one hint jumped out: Look up and bring your fishing rod!

When you arrived at the coordinates, you saw nothing on the ground. No box, no tube, no classic hiding place. But when you looked up, you saw something strange: a wooden box hung on the trunk between some branches of the tree, just too high to reach.

At the bottom of the house was a metal ring visible. You had to do something with this! You grabbed your rod, carefully hooked the ring and slowly pulled it down. A plastic tube was attached to the mechanism. Inside was the log roll, safely stored away from the elements. You quickly wrote your name and let the mechanism slide back into the tree, so that the next cacher would have the same adventure as you.

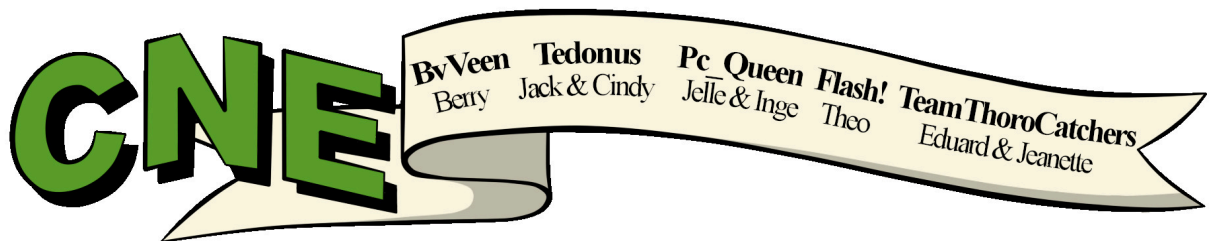

As you walked away, you glanced back. The Flying Treasure hung inconspicuously in the tree again, waiting for the next explorer to unravel its secret.
