GeoArt A #13 [CNE26] Ketelhuis

Where the Elizabeth Hospital once stood, Elisabeth Groen city park now stands. This park was created at the initiative of local residents after plans to demolish the hospital were announced. The neighborhood saw an opportunity: transforming the site into a green meeting place for the neighborhood.

The city council agreed, and management of the park was transferred to the Elisabeth Groen Foundation, established by residents. The municipality stipulated one explicit condition: the former boiler house had to be preserved and given a new function.

A mysterious piece of industrial heritage.

The Ketelhuis, built in 1967, is a robust municipal monument and an important remnant of Amersfoort's industrial heritage. This building once provided the hospital's energy supply. Without the Ketelhuis, there would be no heat, no hot water, and no continuous care.

Noteworthy detail: the tower is one of the city's last handcrafted factory chimneys. It was precisely because of this unique appearance and historical value that this building had to be preserved.

Today, the Ketelhuis has taken on a completely new role. It's now a multifunctional meeting place, also known as the Parkhuis. You can eat and drink here, but also gather for meetings, training courses, childcare, workspaces, or a party or event. Where steam and technology used to be the focus, it's now all about connecting.

But... somewhere in this area lies a cache hidden. To find it, you first have to unravel the mystery.

$$\text{Noord } 52^{\circ} 08.(780 + B + (A \div 10) + C \div 8)$$

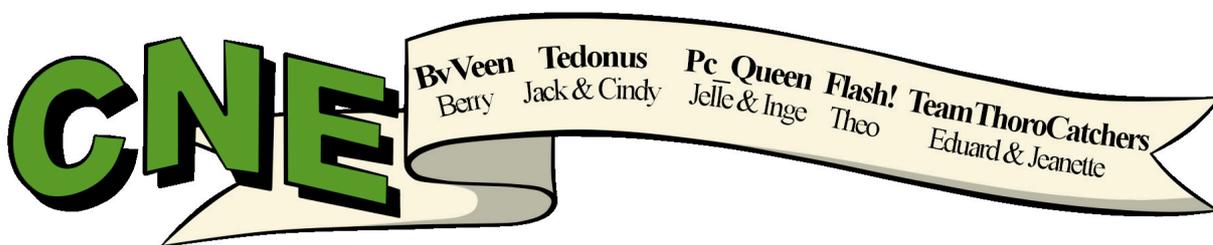

$$\text{Oost } 005^{\circ} 24.(150 + B + (A \div 10) + C \div 8)$$
