[CNE26] Gasoline and Petroleum Company

The gas station next to the monumental Kwekersbrug bridge was built in 1957 to a design by architect Arie Jeremias of Wageningen and urban planner Arie Rooimans, both employed by the municipality of Amersfoort. Their inspiration came from the Hilversum architect Dudok. Their friend, a Utrecht artist named Jan Boon, created a mural featuring horses, symbolizing the horsepower of cars. The gas station had a booth for the attendant, a display case for lubricants, and a workshop for one car.
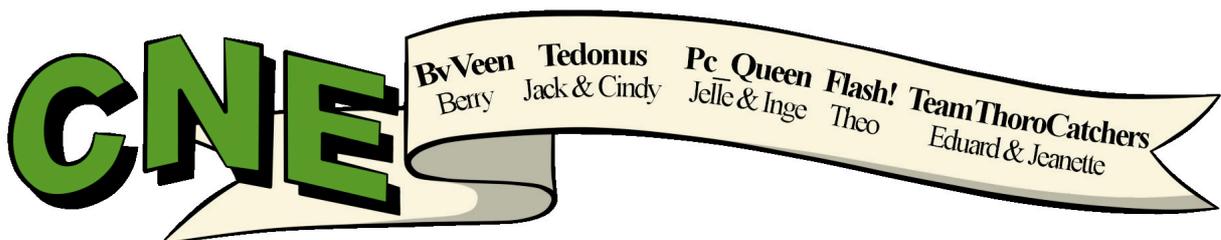

The small station fell into disrepair when Kwekersweg closed down as a through street. After years of vacancy, it became a municipal monument in 2011, thanks to Siesta (Foundation for Industrial Heritage in the City of Amersfoort). Restoration followed in 2016. Artist Frank Biemans renovated the artwork. Today, you can refuel with a traditional delicacy.

Permission for placing this cache has been granted by the municipality of Amersfoort.
We thank you for this.
