[CNE26] The Bridge Houses

Kattenbroek is a new neighborhood in Amersfoort. Built in the early 1990s, it was designed to be a unique residential area. And it succeeded, which is best seen by taking a stroll through the neighborhood. There's "The Closed City" by architect Piet Blom, ruined houses, the Castellum, lily houses, and much more. The most striking houses are located on Bruggensingel: the "Bridge Houses" by artist and architect Leo Heijdenrijk. Leo Heijdenrijk was inspired by Piet Mondrian, and that clearly shows. For the construction of these houses, he first created screen prints, which can be seen at the Flehite Museum. Here, the Mondrian inspiration truly shines through. A total of nineteen bridge houses were built for 38 households. These unique houses can also be seen in miniature, as Madurodam also built five of them.
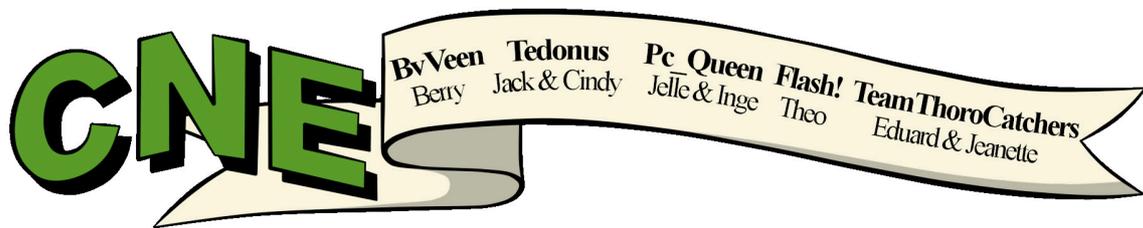

The municipality of Amersfoort has given permission for this cache. Thank you for this.
